Sensation at Dracut Murder Trial

PRIMARY ELECTION ONE WEEK FROM TOMORROW

Lowell Voters Will Nominate 44 Candidates for Office on November 28—Total Number Last Year Was 171—Candidates Will Draw for Position on Ballot Tomorrow Evening

On Tuesday, the 25th, one week from tomorrow, from a list of 33 candidates, the voters of Lowell will be called upon to nominate 44 men or women, 22 of whom will be elected in December to hold municipal office as mayor, councilors-at-large, ward councilors and school committee members under Plan B charter.

Last year there were 171 candidates, of whom seven were for mayor, 62 for councilors-at-large, 63 from wards and 39 for the school committee.

When the time expires for filing nominations, papers last Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, 35 candidates were assured of a place on the

STARTLING TESTIMONY ON FOURTH DAY OF DRACUT MURDER TRIAL

Finding of Blood-Marked Shirt Sleeve Near Body of Slain Armenian and Its Identity With Clothing Worn by Man Charged With Murder Told by Sergt. Fred A. Cotter of Lowell Police

(Special to The Sun)

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 20.—Startling testimony was introduced here today in the trial of John Badrosian, charged with the murder of Jacob Sarkisian in Dracut woods last August, when Sergt. Fred A. Cotter of the Lowell police testified he had picked up a shirt sleeve covered with blood, a few inches from the spot where Sarkisian's body was found. The sleeve has been identified by him as having been worn by Badrosian on the day of the crime.

This evidence is regarded as important by the Commonwealth attorneys, who are for both sides dwell upon the finding with much stress. Cotter was one of several witnesses who testified on the fourth day of the trial.

State Detective Silas P. Smith resumed the stand at the opening of the session. He was once more questioned by the defense, and he testified that the defendant's pulse was taken at St. John's hospital. There was a great deal of discussion over this matter last Friday. It was finally brought out that the pulse was taken when the defendant was lying on his back at the bedside when police interviewed him at St. John's hospital.

Attorney Tierney for the defense then finished with the witness. He was taken by Assistant District Attorney Holby and related where he gained information regarding the crime. He was asked where he went to investigate the defendant's story and he replied, "To Lowell, Dracut and Lawrence."

The government then introduced a jack knife, claimed to have been found in a trousers pocket by Officer Smith when he confiscated Badrosian's clothes at the hospital. The knife was introduced without objection.

Attorney Tierney then took Officer Smith and asked him why he had not investigated the defendant's story more carefully after August 18. The officer replied, "Because I considered the case completed." This ended Smith's testimony.

The next witness for the prosecution was J. Edward Ellis, a Methuen police officer. He told of being called to the Asarodorian farm and of finding the defendant lying on the ground about a half-mile from the farmhouse, but beside a small hut. The officer described two cuts on Badrosian's head, one of them being a long cut, very deep, and the other, a short cut. He also told of four cuts on the back of Badrosian's head behind the left ear. He said that none of the cuts was bleeding and the blood was dry on all of them.

He also told the story that the defendant had told relative to four men and two girls attacking him and his friend. The officer told of finding two coats, a hat and a cap hanging inside the hut. Upon being questioned, he said that up to this

PEACE CONGRESS AT LAUSANNE

Plenary Session of Near East Peace Conference Formally Opened Today

Many Complex Questions to Be Discussed Over the Conference Table

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Switzerland, at whose capital and larger cities many international conferences have been staged, again is host for a gathering of diplomats who come to discuss one of the most important problems before the world at the present time—the problem of Turkey and the Near East. Since the armistice convention ending hostilities between the Greeks and Turks was signed at Mudanya more than a month ago, the Near East peace conference, the plenary session of which is not for today, has been eagerly awaited, as many complex questions, among them the negotiating of a final treaty of peace between Turkey and Greece, the freedom of the Straits, and fixing of the future status of Turkey, are to be discussed over the conference table.

Much satisfaction was evinced on all sides when it became known that the United States had designated its ambassador to Italy, its minister to Switzerland and Rear Admiral Bristol to watch the proceedings. Before the session opened, it was intimated that the United States representatives would raise their voices whenever it was in the interest of the United States to do so.

Premier Poincaré will attend for France, while Great Britain's leading delegate will be Marquess Curzon, the foreign secretary. Professor Mussolini, Italy's new Fascist premier, was expected to be present.

The municipal casino, which overlooks Lake Lemman, with snow-crowned mountains on the opposite shore, was selected for the opening session.

CHILDREN DESERTED BY THEIR PARENTS

A rather pathetic case of neglected children was brought to light in the district court this morning, when Agent Richardson of the Humane society, was called upon to provide a home for three little Polish children, aged 2, 4 and 5 years who had been deserted by their parents and left in a very sad condition as regards clothing. The agent went to the house in question and found the children lying on a pile of straw, with no fire in the house, and with scarcely enough clothing to cover their frail little bodies.

They were taken to the police station in an automobile, given a bite to eat and then conveyed to the poor farm where they will pass the winter in comfort. It has been learned that the mother of the children is employed in a local mill, but the whereabouts of the father could not be learned. To keep them as warm as possible during their trip from the police station to their new home, the three little innocents were wrapped in blankets and accompanied by the agent and a nation left for "the farm." The mother will be brought into court next Saturday to answer to a charge of neglect of minor children.

Labor Party Appears as Chief Contender for Recognition as Opposition

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—A parliament in which Ireland, with the exception of part of Ulster, is not represented and in which the labor party appears as the chief contender for recognition as the opposition, opened today.

T. P. O'Connor, "father of the house," proposed John Henry Whiteley for reelection as speaker and the house adjourned to receive the king's formal assent to its choice of speaker.

The proceedings started with the usual formalities. The clerk of the house presented to the clerk of the members a book containing a list of the members' names after which a message was received requesting the immediate

SULTAN ARRIVES AT MALTA

Gov. Plumer to Board British Warship to Extend Official Welcome

Mohammed Accompanied by Son and Three Officials to Stay at Fort Tiger

MALTA, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The British dreadnought Malaya with Sultan VII on board arrived here this morning.

Since the sultan is traveling incognito, the customary honors and salutes were dispensed with. It is expected that Gov. Plumer will board the vessel to extend an official welcome.

Mohammed, who is accompanied by his 10-year-old son and three officials, will stay at Fort Tiger, which has been specially prepared for his reception.

TANNERY EMPLOYEE IS SERIOUSLY INJURED

John Drury, aged about 50 years, and residing at 315 Wilder street, is in a very serious condition at St. John's hospital as a result of an accident, which occurred this morning at the plant of the American Hides & Leather Co. in Perry street.

As far as could be learned, Drury was caught in an elevator shortly before 10:30 o'clock, while in the performance of his duties. The ambulance removed him to the hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from a dislocated hip, painful cuts and bruises about the leg and internal injuries.

RESIGNATION OF SEN. NEWBERRY

Will Become Effective Tomorrow—Coolidge Unable to Present Letter Today

As a Result Michigan Senator's Name Remains Temporarily on Rolls

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Congress convened at noon today for the special session of two weeks, called by President Harding for consideration of the administration ship subsidy bill upon which he is expected to address a joint session tomorrow.

In both senate and house the gavel beginning the new session dropped a few minutes after 12 o'clock, and then in both chambers there followed then usual formalities which attend the turning over of a new page in congressional history. The program on both sides was so arranged as to permit adjournment after these ceremonies until tomorrow as a mark of respect for the late Senator Watson of Georgia and the late Representative Nolan of California.

The senate was in session only 13 minutes, adjourning without giving an opportunity to Mrs. W. H. Felton of Georgia, or any other new senators, to take the oath of office.

The resignation of Senator Truman H. Newberry of Michigan, the central figure of a long and bitter senate controversy will become effective tomorrow. Vice-President Coolidge was unable at today's brief session, to present Senator Newberry's letter of resignation and the Michigan senator's name remained temporarily on the rolls.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—With the convening of the 6th congress in special session at noon today, our precedent at least in American history is broken while it remained to be determined on the senate floor whether the day would see another smashing of the extra session, called by President Harding primarily to consider the administration ship subsidy bill.

TREMENDOUS BORROWING HAS CARRIED CITY ALMOST TO DEBT LIMIT

Total of $662,500 Negotiated This Year in Loans Largest Amount in City's History, it is Believed—Distance From Debt Limit Today Only $4511, or Shrinkage of $368,000 Since Jan. 1

The city of Lowell today is only $4511.07 away from the debt limit, and while this proximity to the limit will be increased to $19,021.07 on December 1, it is probable that no further loans will be negotiated this year.

The year now passing has witnessed the greatest borrowing crusade within the debt limit in the history of the city. There has been borrowed to date for sidewalks, sewers, streets, bridges and other work $662,500, or $85,500 more than was borrowed last year and $40,500 more than was negotiated in 1919, when it was felt that the total had reached the peak for some time to come.

The huge amount of money borrowed this year, $112,500 above the half-million mark, was not forecasted or expected at the beginning of the year, when it was declared by Mayor George H. Brown that he would not approve loans that extended in total beyond the $300,000 mark. This stated limit has been doubled and then some.

Money borrowed during the past five years, within the debt limit, totals as follows:

Year	Amount
1918	$177,000
1919	$813,000
1920	$372,000
1921	$594,000
1922	$662,000

On January 1 of 1921 the city stood $385,535.82 away from the debt limit, and on November 1, this distance was reduced to $137,950.82. On December 1 it had climbed to $182,935.82.

On January 1 of this year, the city's distance from the debt limit was $373,216.07 and on November 1 it had shrunk to $4511.07, or almost zero.

HALL-MILLS MURDER CASE

Somerset County Grand Jury Convened This Morning to Receive Evidence

Raymond Schneider, Who Notified Police of Finding Bodies First Witness

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The Somerset county grand jury convened at 10 o'clock today to receive evidence in the Hall-Mills murder case.

Raymond Schneider, who notified the police that he had found the bodies of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills slain under an old crab apple tree on the Phillips farm Sept. 14, was the first witness called. Schneider, who accused a companion of having committed the double murder and who later retracted, was brought here from New Brunswick, where he had been lodged in jail under perjury charges. It was understood that he would be asked to describe the finding of the bodies and to identify certain pictures of the scene of the murder.

Schneider was still on the stand at 11 o'clock, identifying pictures and diagrams.

Pearl Bahmer, 16, who was with Schneider when he found the bodies, arrived from Newark, where she had been lodged in the House of Good Shepherd after charges of incorrigibility had been preferred against her. She was taken to the jail here to await her call.

Search Mains Woods For Missing Man

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 20.—Search was being made today in the Maine woods in this vicinity for Henry Ploof of Portland, formerly of Beverly, who had been missing since last Monday. His wife, becoming alarmed over his absence, appealed to the authorities to locate him. With a party of hunters, he entered the woods early this month. When the others departed for their homes, he remained, saying that he hoped to bring down a deer.

THREE KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Two Men Killed in South Billerica—Woman Killed in New Hampshire

High-Powered Car Jumped Stone Wall and Somersaulted in Field

Three members of two automobile parties bound from Belmont, Mass., to a summer home in Belmont, N. H., met death at two different points on the long Inter-state highway trail early yesterday morning.

One of the high-powered machines left the Boston-Lowell highway at so-called "Dead Man's Curve" in South Billerica, jumped a low wall and somersaulted twice, landing in an open field and instantly killing two men. The other car skidded on the highway between Concord and Penacook, N. H., causing the instant death of the only woman member of the party.

The dead (South Billerica): Mrs. Matthe R. Brown, housewife, 50 Lexington street, Waverley.

The injured: Benjamin J. Brown, 48, of Thayer street, Waverley; Edward L. Burns, 25, of Waverley; Edward F. Lynch, 24, of 3 Top street, Clinton; and medical student at McLean's hospital, Waverley.

At the time of the discovery, about 2:45 a. m. Sunday morning, the bodies

FRANK BACON IS DEAD

Noted Actor Wrote Part of

"Lightnin' Bill Jones"

Landis to Deliver Eulogy

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The body of Frank Bacon, famous as a character actor, rested today at the hotel here where 10 years ago he wrote part of the play "Lightnin' Bill Jones," which through nearly 2000 appearances in the theatre, made him known virtually throughout the world. He died in his wife's arms, early yesterday from heart disease.

Pending arrival of a son, Lloyd, from California, Mr. Bacon's body will remain at the hotel until Wednesday, when memorial services will be held at Blackstone theatre where he appeared daily more than a year until he collapsed after the drug curtain, a week ago.

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball commissioner, a close friend of Mr. Bacon, will deliver a short eulogy at the Wednesday services, which will be in charge of the Christian Science church, of which he was a member, after which the body will be placed in a Chicago vault, there to remain until next summer, when it will be removed to Mountain View, Cal., Mr. Bacon's boyhood home. Thus the body will find its last resting place in the soil of his native state, in which he had not appeared since his recent phenomenal rise. His burning ambition, it is said, was to appear as "Lightnin' Bill Jones" in California, which he planned to do in 1924, after an appearance at Rochester, which was to have commenced Christmas day, and later in Philadelphia.

Messages of condolence from hundreds of public men and actors and actresses, have been received by "Lightnin' Bacon and other members of the family.

Mourning in California

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—In Sutter county, his birthplace, in the theatrical district of San Francisco and in the Santa Clara Valley, Frank Bacon, creator of "Lightnin' Bill Jones," the principal character in the play, is being mourned today. In his death at Chicago yesterday, vanished a most pretentious theatrical wish—the anticipation of Frank's return to his old haunts in the role which made him famous.

As a barefoot boy shepherd in the great Sacramento valley between the Sierras and the coast range as an advertising solicitor in early manhood, as a photographer and then as the actor, Frank Bacon found contacts throughout California which made the story of his success in "Lightnin' Bill Jones" a cherished bit of news.

At the Lincoln district school in Sutter county the children today heard the story of his death and his success, seated in the classroom in which he had once been a pupil.

On the Hawk ranch, where his cousin, Mrs. Mary Foster, remembered his boyhood activities, the picture of his smile lingers. In Marysville, where the stage coaches made headquarters in his day, carrying actors to the mother land, towns, he left his impression on the old timers.

In San Francisco it was his associates on the early day stage, in "Ten Nights in a Trenchard," in "Ten, Twenty, Thirty" shows in which he appeared who chatted reminiscences about him.

SOUTHERN COMMERCIAL CONGRESS

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press) The 15th annual convention of the Southern Commercial Congress opened here today for a three day session devoted to discussion of southern agricultural, trade, export and immigration problems. Ambassadors, ministers and consuls of many nations were on the program to discuss the relations between America and their native lands.

Sherman Says He

Has Only Praise For Tanlac

"I am getting back to good health so fast that I can't say or do enough to show my appreciation of Tanlac," is the statement made by Louis Sherman, of Webster, N. Y., as he purchased his third bottle of the Master Medicine in Rochester, recently.

"Earlier in life I was suffering from what they said was liver and bladder disorders. I had been having attacks for years, and for a year before I got Tanlac I was a very miserable man. I lost seventeen pounds in weight and felt so worn out, weak and tired it was all I could do to keep going.

"Tanlac took hold of my troubles just like it had been made especially for my case. Already I feel better, sleep better, feel better and work better than I have in a long time. In fact I am feeling like a different man and am fast getting back out of bed." Tanlac is said by all good druggists.

attendance of the commoners in the house of lords, where they were instructed that their first duty was the election of the speaker. Returning to the house of commons, the members, following tradition, found the speaker's chair vacant. For a moment the clerk hesitated, but instead of speaking, he merely pointed a finger at T. P. O'Connor, who proposed Whitely.

Smallest Parliament Since 1801

The parliament was the smallest since the union with Ireland in 1801. The session just concluded was the thirty-first parliament of "the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland," but Ireland, with the exception of a part of Ulster is no longer represented. What official designation parliament will take in view of the altered circumstances, is as yet unknown.

The question as to which party will be recognized as constituting the official opposition is a question of paramount interest. The liberals have asserted an uncompromising claim to this position on the ground of their numerical strength, but rumors are about that their claim will be disputed by the conservatives.

Another much discussed question, solution of which was looked for today, is the leadership of the labor party. According to some stories in circulation, there is a conflict between the trade union and the so-called "intellectual" branches of the party.

The formalities of opening in the new members are expected to occupy Tuesday and Wednesday. After the king's speech on Thursday the parliament will proceed to a consideration of the Irish constitution; ratification of which must be accomplished by the end of the year. The general opinion is that the constitutional bill will be carried without much delay.

The Morning Post today, however, suggests that the conservative "die-hards" for whom it speaks, may raise difficulties in the way of ratification. The paper believes that parliament will find that the constitution departs from the Irish party treaty in some very important respects and that in some it actually violates it. In a long article setting forth certain alleged violations, it aims to show that the constitution differs materially from that of Canada and the other dominions and that it repudiates imperial supremacy and establishes a new constitutional status unknown within the British empire.

Killed in Auto Accidents

of Lynch's two companions were cold, leading his rescuers to the conclusion that the accident befell them several hours previous, probably around midnight.

About 2:30 a. m. a motorist tore into Bedford square and informed the police that "three men had been killed" at a curve near the Billerica line. The Bedford police immediately got Chief Henry D. Livingston of the Billerica police on the telephone and informed him of the accident. At the same time for the scene, accompanied by Patrolman William H. O'Brien.

In the car that came along and made the first discovery of the fatal accident, and located Lynch, injured driver of the Buick, groping about the nearly light trying to reach the road, was a man, Arthur A. V. Lloyd, a motor public and former special officer of Billerica. Five men were with him, Charles Burton, a Billerica blacksmith, driving the car. The latter had a flashlight in his pocket, which enabled the men to locate the wrecked car. It lay approximately between 150 and 200 feet from the curve in the highway. It evidently had exploded twice and righted itself, but was badly demolished. Two holes on the gas area showed where the auto had made the two overturns.

The hood had been torn off and had toppled over backward upon the body of one of the occupants of the car, while the other body lay some 20 feet distant. Both Mahoney and Ryan were dead, the skulls of both being fractured. Death, in the opinion of Medical Examiner Thomas M. Smith, at once, when arrived later and viewed the scene, had been instantaneous in both cases.

All of the wheels of the Buick had been wrenching loose, the engine torn from its bed and wreckage of the car strewn about the grassy field. The two men were with all the tires and the auto battery, among other things, the police discovered when daylight came. Whether the accessories were stolen before the authorities learned of the tragedy, by wandering motorists who departed with their loot without reporting the disaster is not known.

The three survivors, slightly injured, did not know of the fate of their friends in either machine until told of the accident later. A coincidence of the early of the nature, seldom, if ever, has been chronicled.

Those killed in South Billerica when their car, a big high-powered machine, failed to round the curve, a Melville, corner of the Boston highway, died instantly after the auto landed in the grassland beyond the roadway. The failure of Lynch, owner and driver of the special car, to take the curve, was responsible for the fatal accident, the police say. Lynch was unable to tell a coherent story of the disaster, suffering from a severe shaking up and multiple bruises after his toss from the car as it plunged into the field and overturned twice.

The two automobile parties left Belmont shortly after 11 o'clock Saturday night. The Brown machine that met with tragic disaster later in the night in New Hampshire, departed over the Lowell highway from the second machine, later wrecked at the South Billerica curve, following a little while afterward.

had planned to go to Belmont, N. H., to close the Brown summer home for the winter. Mahoney's employment in his Waverley barber shop had kept his party from leaving town any earlier than 11 p. m.

The two machines, kept fairly close together until they passed through the curve, when the Brown car, which was in the lead, lost sight of the other machine. By the time Billerica was reached it was apparently several miles in the lead, and consequently, the occupants were unaware that the other automobile had met disaster and was not following it to the specified destination.

The Billerica accident did not become known until sometime after the machine had failed to "take" the curve, crashed over a low stone wall and catapulted into a field.

Lynch, stunned and dazed by the impact, was found by passing automobiles alongside the roadway a quarter of a mile away from the scene of the tragedy, apparently having crawled and groped about in the darkness, endeavoring to summon help. He was badly confused and could only make his discoverers understand that there had been a terrible accident. He also had difficulty in directing them to the scene.

Lynch was taken to the office of Dr. Maurice A. Buck in Billerica and given temporary medical treatment, and then expressed a desire to be taken to the nearest hospital. Medical Examiner Smith took him to St. John's hospital in this city, where it was said today that he is suffering from a severe mental shock due to the horror of his experience, but his physical injuries are not serious.

Lynch told the police later in the morning that the curve "suddenly appeared out of the darkness ahead" of the motorists and before he was able to stop the car it "shot off the road" and over the stone wall. Of happenings after that he is unable to give any details.

The curve was visited by thousands of motorists yesterday. The wrecked auto remained in the field close to the roadway, an object of curiosity all day. The curve where the tragedy took place is located about one mile south of the Mitchell Military academy on the main road. It is so sharp a corner that it always requires considerable care in turning so as to keep to the road.

The street car tracks bend sharply across with the curve. Within one week last year three accidents, some of them with serious results, occurred at this turn. There are no warning marks that would show during the night.

The Second Fatal Accident
The accident to the Brown machine, which preceded the Lynch motor party, occurred early Sunday morning as the car was proceeding between Concord and Penacook, N. H., when it skidded and overturned. Mrs. Brown was pinned beneath the car and probably instantly killed. Burns and Brown escaped serious injury, both being able to leave for their homes yesterday afternoon.

Does Every Day Bring the Same Old Backache?

Are You Lame and Stiff, Worn-Out and Discouraged?
It's Time, Then, You Looked to Your Kidneys.

ARE you dragging around, day after day, with a dull, throbbing backache? Do you feel old and slow, tired-out and discouraged? Do you wonder why you are so miserable—so utterly lacking in vim and vitality?

Then you should give some attention to your kidneys. Your kidneys are the blood-filters. When they weaken, the effect on blood and nerves is quickly apparent.

Your back aches; you feel dull and lifeless—sharp pains stab you at every sudden move. You have daily headaches, with spells of dizziness and the kidney action is apt to be distressing. You are nervous and irritable and inclined to spells of "blues."

And all too often these warnings are neglected until some serious kidney sickness develops.

Why let yourself go from bad to worse? Treated promptly these early disorders are usually easy to correct. Neglected, there is danger of gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease.

Don't risk serious kidney illness. Give your weakened kidneys the help they need. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have brought health and strength to thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These LOWELL Folks:

ARTHUR BARBER, 188 Grand St.
Says: "My kidneys bothered me, and my back became lame. I could hardly stoop, my back was so lame and at times a catch took me across the small of my back and I could hardly straighten again. I felt worn out and lacked energy. I used Doan's Kidney Pills bought at Burkshaw's Drug Store, and they cured me of the trouble."

Mrs. A. Germain, 33 Cedar St.
Says: "I worked hard and as a result my kidneys became weak and I suffered from a lame back. I had terrible pains across the small of my back and was in misery most of the time. I was advised to take Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. They helped me right away and three boxes of Doan's cured me entirely of the trouble."

Pretty soon they heard music. "It's a fiddle," said Nancy. "It makes me feel like dancing."

"It must be the Pied Piper of Hamelin," said Nick.

"Or King Cole," remarked Nancy. "Perhaps it's one of his soldiers."

"Or it might be Tom the Piper's son who learned to play when he was young," said Nick.

But to their amazement it was none of these, for along the road came a cat, at that very instant playing a fiddle and doing a jig.

And now you know who it was, my dear?

"Hi diddle diddle, the Cat and the Fiddle," of course.

"Goodness alive! How did you get here?" asked Nancy.

"I'm looking for the cow that jumped over the moon," answered the cat. "I feel that my playing caused all the trouble, and her master needs her. Also, the dish that ran off with the spoon hasn't come back. Did you happen to see either of them?"

"No," said Nancy, shaking her head. "Everything is lost, it seems. Mother Goose has lost her broom, too, and the cakewalk on the sky are so thick that people on the earth think they are clouds. They say she has started to ride up of her geese."

"No doubt," answered the cat solemnly, blinking his eyes. "But I must be on my way. Don't forget to look for the cow, will you? Or the dish! As for the spoon, someone told me they had seen a dipper in the sky. Maybe that's it. I'll go and look."

Chinese Pirates Routed in Fierce Battle

HONG KONG, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Sixty-five Chinese buccanniers who might have stepped from some ancient log of the Spanish main, traveled as passengers aboard the British steamer Sui-An, when she left Macao for Hong Kong yesterday afternoon. Seizing the ship a few miles out, the pirates held her for 13 hours, and the crew and passengers made Hong Kong today with their captors driven away in sampans, only after a fierce battle in which two were killed and several wounded, including the captain of the Sui-An a French priest and another European passenger.

Dry Forces Invade Toronto

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—Dry forces from many parts of the world will invade Toronto this week, when the first international convention of the World League Against Alcoholism will be held here, combined with the conventions of the Ontario and Dominion Alliances. The conventions will open on Nov. 23 and will continue until Nov. 29.

CLOSING OF THE HUNTING SEASON

The hunting season on pheasants, grouse or partridges and squirrels, closes tonight at sunset. It has been one of the best years in the history of the sport, according to local gunners. While the actual number of birds killed by Lowell hunters is not known,

MEASLES
may be followed by serious cold troubles; use nightly
VICKS
Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

It is said to be very lucky for one season. Middlesex county hunters have performed excellent work in keeping down brush and forest fires this season. No serious damage to brushlands or woods has been reported since the opening of the fall hunting season. The local fish and game association has been instrumental in preventing many violations of the laws protecting wild game, and there has been less damage done by itinerant hunters to farmers' property than was the case in other years. Fifteen unpaid fish and game wardens, appointed for the purpose of seeing that the laws were lived up to by all sportsmen, did their work in excellent fashion. The cloth posters issued by the local association and posted throughout the county towns offering a reward of $10 to any person or persons giving information which would lead to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons shooting fowl or other livestock, or doing any damage to farm properties, have greatly helped the campaign for law and order in the popular hunting territories.

Sportsmen have more fun ahead of them in the wild lands until Jan. 1, for ducks and geese may be shot up to that time. Rabbits may be hunted until Feb. 28 next. Persons trapping fur-bearing animals such as mink, muskrats, skunks and raccoons must have a hunting license to do so, and must also have their names printed on each trap. They must load each trap at least once each 24 hours, and, if trapping on land of another person, written permission must be procured. This must be exhibited on demand of any person. The trapping season on the above named animals is open until March 1.

CLEMENCEAU GUEST OF RALPH PULTZER

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Georges Clemenceau has only two things on his set program for today. At 1 o'clock he is to be the guest of Ralph Pulitzer, publisher of the New York World, at a luncheon, and at 5 o'clock he will attend a reception by the France-America society at the home of Thea W. Lamont. The publishers and editors of New York's leading newspapers will be present at the luncheon. The balance of the day he was expected to rest at the home of Charles Dana Gibson.

Following negotiations pending since last August, Albert Edmund Brown has finally secured Paderewski for a single recital in the Memorial Auditorium on Dec. 12.

This engagement is easily the greatest attraction of the first season at the Auditorium. The "grand manner" of the great pianist will once more intrigue an audience and once more inspire a home audience to the best of the public than to art and the artist. Paderewski recently returned from abroad refreshed by an extended rest and prepared fully for the 60 performances which he is to give this season. He returns to his public in a mood of high spirits and it seems destined to carry him to a larger theater than any in his great career. The tickets for his New York recital Nov. 22 were sold out weeks ago.

$2 and $1 apiece. In Boston, where the prices are $3 and $4, practically all of the tickets were taken before the public announcement was made. The Lowell prices are to be lower than in any other place where Padewewski will play this season—$3, $2.50, $2 and $1.50, plus the regular 10 per cent war tax.

Mail orders may be sent to Steinert's, 130 Merrimack street, and cheques should be made payable to Albert Edmund Brown. No telephone orders will be taken for the Padewewski recital.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—That fruit and vegetables on a woman's hat are the last word in bad taste, that women with round or moon faces should wear V-shaped necks, and that no fat woman should ever wear red are some of the rules laid down by Prof. Frank Alvah Parsons, lecturer on advertising at New York University.

Professor Parsons was talking about women's dress, not as a modeler, but to hold its third meeting tomorrow evening. Because of the large enrollment in the second meeting, it was found necessary to transfer the class from its original meeting place to a larger room in the high school. The course is being given by Edward A. Sullivan of Cambridge. Arrangements have been made to continue the enrollment of students this week.

It was announced at the state house today that all meetings of university extension classes coming on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, with the possible exception of present agricultural and domestic science, would be postponed on account of the Thanksgiving. This announcement will be read at this week's meetings.

It's Easy—If You Know Dr.
Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—bimble—a bit of jaundice—on your face—dark eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound called "Olive Tablets" to cleanse the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action on the kidneys and liver. They bring about the natural action of the bowels which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

With over four hundred students already enrolled in the state university extension courses at the University of Lowell high school, interest continues to grow in those classes which are still open to enrollment. The course in present day economic problems, organized at the high school last week, will begin with its first regular meeting tonight at 7.30. According to an outline of the course, the first day's lecture by the instructor, Ernest G. Haggard of Boston, the lecturer will deal with current events viewed from the angle of economics. Foreign exchange, the action of supply and demand on the American commodity market, and relations of the United States with other continents in the financial organization of the world will be among the subjects scheduled for discussion. Inquiries already received from local men and women indicate that the subject is making a general appeal to persons in every branch of business and professional life, and the state department of education has made arrangements to meet a heavy enrollment of students.

The state course in business law given by Patrick Reynolds of this city also started last week, and will again be open for enrollment next Thursday evening at the high school. This class already shows a substantial membership of men and women persons engaged in local business enterprises.

Equally popular is the state course in public speaking which is scheduled

Do you know that careful people of some fifty nations are now brushing teeth in a new way? And largely by dental advice?

If you have not learned what that method means, make this test and see.

They combat film

This new way fights the film on teeth—that viscous film you feel.

Film clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. It absorbs stains, then forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

It also holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Most tooth troubles are due to film. So are most cloudy teeth. Under old methods very few escaped them, for no ordinary tooth paste can effectively combat film.

New methods now

Dental science has long sought to solve the problem of that film. Two methods have been found. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities have proved their efficiency. Now dentists the world over are advising their daily use.

A new-type tooth paste has been created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. In that tooth paste are embodied those two great film combatants.

Fights acids, too

Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there

PROSPERITY COMING

At the present time the outlook for a year of good business is very encouraging. The textile factories are now running with their normal force of employees and the probability is that they will steadily increase their output. The high cost of cotton and wool, the two great staples of the textile industry, is a serious handicap of course, but as it affects all alike, it must be accepted as a condition beyond control. The price may be lowered, but the probability is, that it will be increased as a result of increased demand and tariff restrictions.

There is no doubt that the products of the textile factories will be advanced in price under the application of the new tariff. Indeed, the upward trend is already felt. Clothing, as well as other necessities of life, will cost much more for the reason that foreign competition being shut out, the manufacturers will be able to regulate prices as they please. That means that the consumers will have to pay dearly for what they wear. To a less extent, the same is true of food, fuel and dwellings. That means that the cost of living will go bounding up and as a result there will probably be a demand for increased wages. These are merely the probabilities but should the cost of living show no material increase, then wages will remain at the present level.

The shoe business, the machine shop business and various other lines of local manufacture are showing increased activity and all are looking forward to a period of prosperous business. In this transition from the drags of an industrial depression, every citizen should assist in the general restoration of business activity all along the line. It may be said of the merchants of Lowell that they have weathered the storm with great courage and optimism. They had to advertise heavily in order to dispose of their stock, but from this time forward, at least for a year, they should have less difficulty in disposing of their stock at a reasonable profit, whereas during the past two years they were often obliged to sell at a sacrifice. When the market again becomes overstocked and the lack of a foreign outlet is felt, then—and nobody can tell just when such a condition will arise—there will come a slowing down for the reason that we cannot consume more than two-thirds of what our factories produce. The republican tariff will have a tendency to cut off our foreign trade. Just to what extent it will so operate is still problematical.

THE SHIP SUBSIDY BILL

President Harding's ship subsidy bill is coming in for considerable criticism in view of the fact that he has called a special session of congress, chiefly for the purpose of having this bill become law while the republican party is in control.

It appears that the president has set his mind upon the passage of this measure more strongly than any other he has favored, with the exception of the tariff law. It was solely against his will that he did not have it enacted before adjournment so as to have it pass into history with the tariff law. Judging from the comments of various prominent newspapers and democratic members of congress, it appears that this measure is much in the same line with the tariff law in being designed to benefit special private interests.

Much light has been shed upon the whole question by the minority report of the house committee on merchant marine. This report indicates that the government feel of merchant ships built during the war and in keeping of the United States Shipping board, cost three billion dollars. Under the bill, the shipping board would be authorized to sell these vessels for $200,000,000, a total loss to the taxpayers of $2,800,000,000. After purchasing the ships the new owners would have the option of capitalizing them at their original value and of basing their freight rates on this higher valuation, so that the people would suffer first, from the shipping board's deflation of the total value of the ships and afterward by the inflation of more billions by the new shipping trust that would then have acquired ownership of the vessels. Thus the people would have to pay tribute to the shipping trust as a private interest.

But the abuse would not stop there inasmuch as the bill contemplates the granting of bounties amounting to $750,000,000 to the new owners of these ships. In addition the bill proposes that $125,000,000 be loaned to these same corporations and individuals to pay for the building of new and the reconditioning of old vessels. Thus, according to democratic congressmen, who studied the subject, would be tantamount to giving the ships away and then awarding bounties amounting in all to about $900,000,000 as a gratuity to the new owners in the operation of the ships.

Moreover, the borrowers of the $125,000,000 mentioned could obtain the loans at 2 per cent interest for terms ranging as high as 15 years. The only collateral required would be the ships upon which the money is borrowed, while the amount lent would be two-thirds of the market value of the vessels upon which the loans were made. In striking contrast with this liberality in extending loans, it is recalled that the Federal Farm loan banks demand six per cent interest for similar loans. It is, therefore, up to the voters and in sums not exceeding 50 per cent of the market value of the farms mortgaged for security.

There would also be various indirect subsidies such as exemption from federal taxes under certain specified conditions. There is nothing whatever in the bill that promises cheaper ocean freight rates or that provides for the regulation of rates in the business done by these beneficiaries of government bounties. It is further alleged, that certain sections of the bill are intended to repeal some provisions of the federal anti-trust law in order to permit railroads to operate ships and to consolidate with the shipping interests. Furthermore, the bill does not impose any obligation upon the shipping board to make reports of its acts or expenditures to any officer or department of the government as other departments are required to do.

The claim of the republican leaders and of President Harding himself is, that these various provisions are necessary to give the merchant marine a proper start that will insure its continued existence. The democrats contend that the new owners of the ships so disposed of may recall them and pocket the bounties and thus the ships may pass into control of parties not in any way interested in maintaining the merchant marine or in conducting American commerce upon the plan proposed in this subsidy bill.

SIFTING THE CANDIDATES

Now that the list of candidates is before the public, it remains for the voters to make a judicious selection. There are two prime qualifications without which no candidate should be considered or voted for under any circumstances. The first of these is strict honesty and integrity of character. If you think that any candidate for mayor, if elected, would use his power for his own personal interest, rather than for the interest of the city, then don't support him. Is there a majority candidate in the running who would want a raise-off on contracts for labor or supplies? If so, take care not to vote for him, for if the head of the government is corrupt, and is secretly deceiving the people, then the other departments have before them an example of crookedness and inefficiency instead of one of honesty, high purpose and progressive leadership.

The next qualification is capability or business experience. Unless a man has shown some fair degree of business capacity wholly apart from political trickery he would be a misfit in the office of mayor. Reduced to these simple terms, it should be quite easy for the voters to make a wise and intelligent selection that will serve the best interests of the city and give us sane, honest and economic government.

What applies to the selection of a majority candidate applies almost with equal force to the choice of councilors and members of the school committee. If the members of either board are dishonest, they will use their position for purposes of graft, and the heads of departments may have to pay for the votes that elect them to office. If an official has to pay to secure such a position, he may feel inclined to get his money back, even by dishonest means. Thus the election of dishonest men popularly known as "grifters" spreads corruption throughout the departments and spends the city's money without showing results.

If Plan B is to bring any improvement in our city government, we must elect the very best men available to the positions to be filled.

From the list of candidates, we believe it is possible or even easy to select candidates for mayor, councilors and school committee, who will give general satisfaction in an honest, efficient and business-like administration of the city's affairs.

If we were to name a slate, we might do injustice to some, and in any case, we should be forestalling the duties of the citizens to make their own selection and out for themselves who the men are who can be most implicitly relied upon to use the people's money so as to bring the best results in wise economic and progressive city government.

Health commissioner of Chicago advises everybody to walk who would like long. Some of the paths that used to be popular for pedestrians, however, appear to be mortgaged by the automobile traffic, although the health commissioner's advice is thoroughly sound if a person happens to be a good dodger.

Chester W. Chapin, deceased, who was distinguished in New England transportation circles for many years, was also called "the steamboat king," for the history of the Long Island sound steamboat business was closely linked with his name.

Many of our local residents who have worried for years over the disgrace of First street, are anxious to see the riverside boulevard finished and opened to the public before the snow flies. It will be a great boon to our city.

SEEN AND HEARD

Many a fur coat has some unpaid bills in the pocket.

The world's greatest men have their moments of foolishness. Loyal George's son is named Geyllian.

Trouble with lying something aside for a damp day is you are always coming to a little dew.

Money Wanted

A Scotsman bought his mother a barometer as a present, and explained how she could tell if it was going to be wet or fine by inspecting the position of the hands. "Ay," said his mother, "it's a fine thing; but ye've been wasting your money. What do you think Providence gave your father the rheumatism for?"

A Thought

The longer on this earth we live, and weigh the various qualities of men, the more we feel the high, stern, featured beauty of plain development to duty. Steadfast and still, nor paid with mortal praise. Not finding ample recompense for life's ungarlanded expense in work done squarely and unwasted days.

—JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL.

Was Late Anyway

The teacher was angry when Thomas appeared 10 minutes late for school one morning. "Why are you late, Tommy?" he said sharply. "Please sir," replied the stammer, "it was late when I started from home. Then why didn't you start from home earlier?" "Please, sir, it was too late to start early."

Tail Soldiers

An argument was in progress. Private Smart claimed that the tallest man was in his regiment, while Private White upheld his own regiment's claims. "What's the first," asked Smart, "of the tallest man in your regiment?" "Please, sir, it was too late to start early."

His Train Time

A certain elementary school was visited one day by an important education authority, who cross-examined the scholars, and was eminently satisfied with the results. The boys strained their brains and did their dutiful best. "Well," said the visitor at last, "there are any lad here who would like to ask something?" "Yes, sir," came a tired voice. "What time does your train leave?"

Purifying Influence

A visitor was admiring a beautiful monument in an ancient church. He asked the effect of a certain knight and stately dame, with a kneeling train of children behind each figure, he inquired: "Surely, such surroundings must have a purifying influence?" "Yes, indeed, sir," was the startling reply of the church cleaner, who had walked up unobserved. "Many a time I've washed them images' faces for 'em, when a flock of a duster was all that was expected of me!"

One on Father

The family was seated at dinner and the conversation turned to school lessons, much to the consternation and disgust of little Cynthia. "What period in English history are you doing?" asked her father. "The Stuart," said Cynthia. "There was a long pause as father thought out a question to put to his daughter. He was a little hazy about facts, but at last he propounded his query. "What was the first thing James did when he came to the throne?" asked father solemnly. "What?" said Cynthia. "Cynthia with calm conviction. Los Angeles Times.

She Could Swim

"This is a nice canoe, isn't it, Margie?" asked Dick, the boy, having young man. "Very nice, indeed, Howard," replied the pretty girl, sitting in the stern. "There's one objection to it," said the young man. "Indeed! And what is that?" she asked. "O, well you see, if you try to kiss a girl in this canoe there's great danger of upsetting it and then both the fellow and the girl would be thrown into the river." "O, indeed," said the girl, reflectively. She sat silent for a while. At length she remarked, softly: "Howard, I can swim."

Achievement

He talked about the things he'd do. In such a cock-bore way. That we all listened eagerly. To hear what he would say. He was determined, he said. To win both a gold and a silver medal. He'd build himself a fortune, and he'd make himself a name.

But now he's getting on in years. And where is he today? He isn't famous, and he eats Quite ordinary pay. He's proved again the old-time rule—So simple and so true—It's what you do that counts, not what You say you're going to do! —Somerville Journal.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

From two police officers, one of them a cycle cop, I learned that at the present time, there are nearly as many autos on the road showing only one head light as there are displaying two. They also said that more than half of these cars either are without tail lights altogether, or carry lights that are impossible to see at a distance of more than 20 feet. According to the officers, the law requires that each machine be equipped with three lights, two on the front and one in the rear. It might be well for all local drivers to see to it that all three lights are going. An extra bulb, also, for emergency purposes, should be carried.

The non-commissioned officers of Company M have formed an association and have elected the following officers: President, Sergt. Allan Angus; vice-president, Sergt. William H. Clarke; recorder, Corp. Louis Lynch; treasurer, Sergt. Alfred S. Gannon. This local military organization is a hustling one. All members are interested in their work and this is attested to in a great measure by the showings they make when called upon to appear in public. The unit did good work at Camp Devens last summer and will continue its drills through the winter.

The problem of supplying New England with cotton, I am informed, has eased off to an appreciable extent the past week. This applies more to what the future holds, however, than to the present. Spots are still scarce and, except as the future promises to keep more of a supply moving into the east, the small amount available would cause serious concern. Fall River reports the mills to be much better satisfied and the situation in other centers has been somewhat less menacing than there.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY IN N. Y.

Remorse at Having Killed His Pal Believed to Have Caused Suicide

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Remorse at having shot and killed his pal, Elmer Lee Godfrey of Clean, N. Y., in mistake for another roomer he had quarreled with at a cafe, was believed by police to have caused Matthew L. Dobbs to commit suicide early yesterday. Godfrey was about to enter his friend's room when, without waiting to see who the caller was, Dobbs fired two bullets, one striking Godfrey near his heart. As he collapsed, he was reported to have asked: "Why did you do it?"

"It was a mistake," Dobbs told his dying pal. "I didn't want to go you. I'm going to get myself now."

The landlady told the police Dobbs had a drinking party with another lodger Wednesday.

SEASON TICKET FOR CONCERTS

Following closely in line with the announcement some time ago that no fewer than three of the leading half dozen artists of the concert world would be presented in Lowell on a season ticket plan to reduce the cost of concerts to music lovers, comes a second announcement of the price scaling to be used for it. In the paid advertising section on the amusement page of this issue will be found the scaling that has been worked out. The lowest price season ticket is set at an average cost of eighty-three cents per concert and the highest priced seat is at two dollars. The plan, while new to Lowell, is a familiar one in other cities and has always given satisfaction.

Appearing in the series are Gertrude Farrar with her concert company on Friday evening, January 12; Fritz Kreisler, the great violinist, on Monday evening, January 22, and Sergei Rachmaninoff, pianist and perhaps the world's greatest musician, on Friday evening, March 9.

The course is well balanced and offers variety to the purchaser of the season ticket. Not only will the very best seats in any part of the Auditorium be sold to those who buy season or course tickets, but money will be saved by them. After Christmas it is planned to sell the remaining tickets separately. These will be offered on a scale of $1 to $2.50.

The tickets will go on public sale at Chaffin's on Friday morning, December 1. In the meantime reservations are being made when each accompanies the order and mail orders will be filled. The series was first announced on the program at the Gail-Curt concert in early October and has created an unusual stir.

PLAN BIG SHOW IN AUDITORIUM

In keeping with the high standard set by attractions at the Auditorium up to the present time, the Mathew Temperance Institute yesterday afternoon formulated plans for its January show which should make the annual event the equal of any amateur production ever presented before a local audience. In order that nothing should be lacking in the staging of the show, Mr. George J. Thornton, better known as "Doc" Thornton, who during the last two years has directed numbers of leading amateur theatricals for the principal organizations in and about Boston, and has established a splendid reputation as a director—has been engaged. Under Mr. Thornton's leadership the members are confident that they will score a tremendous success.

As accompanist, the institute is again fortunate in securing the services of Paul J. Angelo, who has acted very capably as director and accompanist on previous occasions.

The usual ladies' night, with the Mathews' own orchestra, will be held tomorrow evening, and a pleasurable event is anticipated.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem FOND MEMORIES

"The happy days of childhood,"
How fair and bright they were;
How full of careless rapture—
Or people so averse;
To which enthusiastic stuff
I feel I must demur.

"The happy days of childhood!"
Well, maybe they were that,
But chiefly I remember
The school wherein I sat
And how I hated all the tasks
That I was busied at.

"The happy days of childhood!"
Were days when, I recall,
I had the crump and measles,
Which held me in their thrall;
And other "kid" diseases,
I think I had 'em all!

"The happy days of childhood!"
Those times of joyous play,
When I had fights with other boys
Not less than twice a day,
And swollen lips and blackened eyes
Were tokens of the fray.

"The happy days of childhood!"
Appear, on backward view,
As days when everything was wrong
That I desired to do,
And always I must go to bed
Before I wanted to!

So, though a frank opinion
May give romance a jar,
I'll say that since I've grown a man
I'm happier by far.
Those childhood days are over—
And gee, I'm glad they are!

More Earth Shocks in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—While President Alessandri was visiting Vallenar yesterday, another slight earth tremor occurred, causing the remains of a house to crumble near the presidential party. Medical officers at Vallenar state that 395 bodies of victims of the recent disaster have been identified so far and express the opinion that many more will be found in the ruins. A despatch from Vallenar to the newspaper Mercurio says that several shocks of some intensity were felt Sunday night, causing the collapse of ruined walls.

WHAT A BEAUTIFUL LINE OF RUGS YOU CARRY!

We have heard this expression from customers so often that we take it as a matter of course

It's gratifying, nevertheless, because we do take a great deal of care in selecting every rug. We would rather pay a little more and get just what we want rather than take manufacturers' assortments. We don't buy seconds at any price. We want first quality in their respective grade. We want harmony in coloring and designs. We never buy at any price "Plasters" of Red, Green and Yellows. It does not matter to us if the manufacturer tells us how well they sell with certain classes of customers, our answer invariably is, let him buy them somewhere else; we won't be guilty of "decorating" or desecrating anyone's home with such "horrors." If they don't know what is good taste, it's one reason the more for us to see to it that their home is a credit to our trained knowledge of what is correct and in good taste.

Our Stock of Rugs of all sizes from an 18-inch Rug to a 9x12 feet is at its best. Hundreds of Rugs of all kinds to select from, all bought before the last advance and priced on a basis of their cost, and not their replacement value. We have enough bought to protect you on price till next spring. The manufacturers are starting the old game of raising prices according to the demand and not the old fashioned square way of selling goods at a fair profit over the cost of production.

So protect yourself and buy now, and at

Why Stay Fat? You Can Reduce

The answer of most fat people is that it is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous to force the weight down. Marmola Prescription Tablets overcome all these difficulties. They are absolutely harmless, entail no dieting or exercise and have the added advantage of cheerfulness. A case is sold at one dollar by all druggists the world over, or send the price direct to the Marmola Co., 122 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. Now that you know this, you have no excuse for being fat, but can reduce steadily and easily without going through long plagues of tireless exercise and starvation diet or fear of bad effects.—Adv.

Syrup Pepsin Helps Nature Give Relief

Try it when a Laxative is needed and see the wonderful results

IT is not necessary to take a violent physic for a simple ailment as constipation. Yet many thoughtless parents give mercury in the form of calomel, and castor-oil, and other forms of phenol when a natural vegetable compound like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will do the work equally well and without danger.

People should realize that mercury may salivate and in certain conditions loosen the teeth, that phenolphthalein, by whatever name known and how ever disguised in candy, may cause dermatitis and other skin eruptions; that salt waters and powders may concentrate the blood, dry up the skin and cause leprosy.

You can take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself or give it to a babe in arms, as thousands of mothers do every day, with the confidence that it is the safest and best medicine you can use for constipation and such complaints. A teaspoonful will relieve you over night even if the constipation has been chronic for years. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and does not cramp or gripe. Every druggist handles it, and bottles are so generous that the cost amounts to only about a cent a dose. You buy it with the understanding that if it does not do as claimed your money will be refunded. The names of all the ingredients are on the package.

Mrs. A. Arceneaux of Orange, Texas, suffered from constipation for six years and found no relief until she took Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin; and Mrs. Gus Anderson of Ball, Kans., corrected her bowel trouble so that she now eats and sleeps normally. Bring a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin into your own home and let the family use it for constipation, biliousness, wind, gas, headaches, flatulency, and to break up fevers and colic.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. J. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

Increase in Retail Cost of Food

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—An indicated increase of two per cent in the retail cost of food to the average family in the United States during the month ending Oct. 15, was reported today by the bureau of labor statistics of the department of agriculture, based on the prices of 43 articles in 51 cities. By cities, San Francisco led with an increase of 6 per cent, while Boston, Los Angeles and Philadelphia showed four per cent and Buffalo, Cleveland and New York were included in those reporting three per cent. No city reported a decrease, but the increase in a number, including Chicago, Indianapolis and Milwaukee, was less than one half of one per cent.

SING SING WARDEN BARS BARELEGGED DANCERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Barelegged, gunny-garmented girl dancers cannot perform before the prisoners in Sing Sing, according to the latest ruling of Warden Laxey.

A Greenwich Village company, with 50 dancing girls went to the prison last night to entertain the convicts. The warden, who said he had received letters from several welfare leagues, and others, asking him information regarding the show, declared the dancing could not be permitted.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION COURSE
The University Extension class for the discussion of present day economic problems will hold its first meeting of a series of ten scheduled this evening in Lowell high school hall, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. E. W. Hargrove of Boston, will be the instructor. Class meetings will be held each Monday evening and the public is generally invited to attend and enjoy the interesting programs coming. The topics for discussion at future meetings are declared to be of vital interest to all having anything in common with modern business as well as social problems.

A pretty wedding took place this morning at St. Joseph's church, when Mr. William Belleville, a prominent resident of Braintree and Miss Adeline Masson, a popular member of St. Joseph's parish, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at St. Joseph's church at 8 o'clock, by Rev. Armand Baron, O.S.A. The bride wore a gown of white crepe de chine with veil and carried bridal roses. She was given away by her father, Mr. Joseph Masson, while the groom's bridesmaid was his father, Mr. Eli Belleville. During the mass, hymns were sung by the Notre Dame de Lourdes sodality choir, of which the bride was a member. At the close of the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, 125 Salem street, where a reception was held this afternoon. After a week's honeymoon trip, the couple will make their home in this city.

MUNICIPAL EMPLOYEES' UNION
There was a large attendance at last evening's meeting of the Municipal Employees' union. President Daniel Moynihan occupied the chair and reported the union's financial condition. Matters pertaining to the organization were discussed. The local political situation was also discussed and the officers urged the voters to vote for capable and efficient men to fill the offices of the coming city primaries, so that these men would appreciate the good things which the city employees have done for them. In the course of the meeting it was brought out that it has been proven beyond a doubt that there are no better or more willing workers in the commonwealth than city employees, who are willing at all times to co-operate and do their part in repairing or constructing work.

PRESIDING BISHOPS
BALTIMORE, Nov. 27.—The board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church in their closing session here announced assignment of presiding bishops for the conferences and missions to be held during 1923. Conferences in New York and New England follow: March 21, Eastern Swedish, Worcester; April 18, Maine, Bangor; Bishop Hughes; April 18, New England, Bishop Hughes; April 18, Southern New England, New London; Comp. Bishop Henderson; April 11, New Hampshire, Manchester; Bishop Hughes.

STREET RAILWAYMEN'S BAIL
The men of the street railway are to hold their annual concert and ball in the Auditorium on Friday evening and are making a great effort to have it eclipse all their past events of this nature. The expense of securing the Auditorium adds to total outlay but the members of the union felt that they should have the best hall available for their friends and treat on that evening. The concert to be given from 8 to 9 o'clock will be of unusual excellence and the arrangements offer assurance for a very enjoyable time for all who attend.

POLO LEAGUE REVIEW

New Bedford Continues to Set Pace—Other Teams Closely Bunched

As the third week of National Roller Polo League play continues, New Bedford continues to set the pace, with Salem and Worcester tied for second place, Lowell following and Providence and Portland tied for the lower rung of the ladder.

New Bedford got away to a flying start and has held the first position ever since. In the first game, played on Saturday, the team was playing wonderful polo, repeating his success of other years. "Sluggo" Higgins, his pal at the rush line, is playing wonderfully well, while Tony Welch, who is supposed to play center, is doing much on the offensive and as a result the team has scored four goals. Paul Gardiner at halfback is the same old reliable stone wall, while Pete Walsh at goal is going better than ever.

Providence is playing strong polo. Fred Dean is the tower of strength he has always been to every team of which he has been a member. Steve Pierce and his young brother Earl are teaming up well on the rush line, while McPherson and Conley are stepping level in the center. The Providence team has the best defensive line in the league, while its rush line is bound to prove one of the most productive as the season advances.

Salem and Lowell have been playing fine polo, but both outfits have been handicapped by regulars being out of the game. In Salem, Young Houghard who got away to a fine start, has been laid up with a severe cold, and has not played since. In Lowell, the team gained strength when the "Duke" arrived, but lost some of its punch when Houghard was forced to sit out. In this week and his return ought to make the "Whites" one of the most formidable clubs in the league. With Houghard and Pierce to "lead" him he is bound to turn in many more goals.

Lowell is O.K. on the rush line and at center. Kid Williams and Harkins are co-operating as of old and Hardy at center is doing a fine job. At halfback, who has been out of the lineup for more than a week and the consequence of a cold, has greatly weakened the team. Then Lovgren, who was going good behind "Mitch" has not been going so well behind the new recruit.

Providence had a little hard luck in losing Alexander after the season of season. Alex was teaming up well with Welch and the team was giving out all a battle. Alexander, however, found that he could not play with Providence way he gave up the game. George Hunt has been secured to fill the gap and he is doing nicely. Bill Blount, who is starting to show signs of proving an ace in the hole for the Gold Bugs and his classy kicking has done much to keep the Providence team in the running.

Portland had rather hard sledding the get-away week, but new men have helped and others are doing better. Jimmy Pierce and Jimmie Pierce go and Vince who played with Lowell one season is now on the job. His acquisition will greatly strengthen the team. Charlie Ryan is a veteran with many years' experience. All cities report large crowds turning out to the games and with a few changes here and there, a much closer race is expected.

Lowell goes to Portland to play tomorrow night. Providence will make its first appearance of the season here, meeting the Grays at the Crescent rink. The game will be an announcer of polo, will be on hand to handle the game. Lowell will then play the Grays at the Crescent rink. LOWELL BEATEN BY NEW BEDFORD, 12 TO 4

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 20.—(Lowell) skated with the polo surface Saturday night, and notwithstanding the Lowell team's strenuous efforts to head him off, he added eight goals to his contribution to a 12-4 victory. The Whites, numbered through five in a row, as the game started and thereafter the same went all their own. The lineup, score and summary:

NEW BEDFORD: K. Williams 11, Higgins 2, Harkins 2, Hardy 2, Welch 2, Lovgren 2, Pierce 2, Earl 2, McPherson 2, Conley 2.

LOWELL HIGH ELEVEN WON OVER WAKEFIELD

By Superior playing, the I.H.S. football team managed to win its second victory of the season on Saturday over Wakefield high by a score of 3-0. The Lowell line played poor football during the first three-quarters but bucked up in the latter part of the game. During the periods, the Wakefield team did much within Lowell territory more than once. Fumbles were the cause of so small a score on the part of Lowell. The Wakefield team scored several times but a fumble generally spoiled the hopes of a touchdown.

Lowell received Lowell's punt, but lost the ball on downs on her own 25 yard line. A bad pass by the Lowell center lost the ball for Lowell and Wakefield then came within 15 yards of a touchdown. The Wakefield team scored several times but a fumble generally spoiled the hopes of a touchdown.

America's Greatest Athletic Stadiums Are Small in Comparison With England's Latest

Interesting Statistics About World's Greatest Stadium

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Figures never lie. These statistics will give you some idea of the size of London's great sport stadium and also explain why it has already cost a million dollars and then some. The outside wall of the stadium is a half-mile round and apart from the main exhibition front it is composed of 37 arches, each 45 feet high, with a 50-foot span. In building the entrance structures and the seating arena 1400 tons of structural steel work were used, 500,000 rivets, 600 tons of steel rods for reinforcing the concrete and 25,000 tons of concrete. Workmen did 40 miles of terracing and laid 14 miles of concrete beams to form the terracing in the stand; 150,000 tons of clay were dug up and redeposited to form part of the terracing. In making the grass turf for the football ground inside the stadium 5 1/2 inches of turfing soil were laid upon a 10-inch foundation of ashes and clinkers. The turves themselves numbered over 76,000, each measuring 18 by 12 inches and being over 2 inches thick. The turves were cut from turf that was centuries old so as to give the football grounds a smooth, velvety appearance.

By MILTON BRONNER
LONDON, Nov. 20.—In America we are always building something that is the biggest in the world, but in the realm of sports our British cousins have us beat a block.

Following closely upon their completion at Wimbledon of the biggest and finest tennis grounds in the world, the English are now pushing to completion at Wembley another London suburb, the biggest athletic stadium in the world.

It has cost well over a million dollars—just how much has never been given out—on the new stadium. The playing field will be big enough to take either association or Rugby football. A running track a quarter of a mile in length will encircle the football pitch and between this track and the seats on the north side there will be a straight 220-yard running track.

Greatest Seating Capacity: The ground will provide accommodations for 125,500 spectators and over 25,000 of the seats will be under cover. The stadium will be provided for over 500 athletes, with all adequate lockers, shower baths and wash basins. There will be separate dressing rooms for the football teams and connected with these will be training quarters with a gymnasium, plunge baths and recreation rooms.

For the general public there will be a restaurant seating 100 persons at one time and capable of being converted into a huge dining hall. The stadium is merely part of the property being erected by the British Empire Exhibition company. The rest of the ground will house the great British Empire Exhibition which is to open in 1924.

Will Open in April: The stadium itself will be opened in April next year by the king. The occasion will be the final match to decide the football championship of Great Britain.

The great football associations which control all the principal football teams of Britain, will hereafter each spring have the final match at the Wembley Stadium, which is the only place capable of accommodating the vast crowds which clamor for admission.

As England, Scotland and Wales form a comparatively small country in area, these great final matches always draw people from all over the United Kingdom, all the railways running excursions.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Despite the fire the managers of the Crescent rink, who had workmen on the job, had the rink open and the game had been adjusted, will be able to go forth without any interruption in their schedule of sporting activities.

Tomorrow night the Providence polo team will make its initial bow of the season in the local rink. In the visiting lineup will appear Bill Blount, the best goal tender in the business, and the team will be made up of Young, Wiley and George Hart.

On Thursday night "Dealer" Dodge will conduct his regular weekly polo match with Billy Murphy of the Acre and Bert Jones of Everett in the main event of ten rounds. This will make Murphy's second match since he is out to continue the success he enjoyed against Blake, a few weeks ago. In Jones, however, he is expected to meet a more formidable foe. The boy from the beach town has been at the game for some time and, according to his record, has not many of the fastest and best boys of his weight in the country.

The fact that Jones has been very successful against a number of butlers, by knocking out K. O. Elkins and another victim of Jones.

Another point in favor of the Rovers is that he knocked out Llewellyn Sullivan in three rounds, while the best Murphy could do with the same man, who fought them under the name of Joe Walsh, was to win a point decision over him. Steve Gustin is another victim of Jones.

Jimmy Keenan is practically all set to open up the basketball season here on Thanksgiving day. Jimmy will play and manage the Woodbine quintet and he has secured Lucky Lew, Dan O'Connor and several other star performers for his team. He is to play the first game of the season at the Granite State.

The success that attended the opening of the wrestling season here a week ago is expected to bring about a busy season for the sport. The promoters of the sport are expected to have a very large number of bouts here for several seasons and the Polish Sporting club, which promotes the sport, has received many compliments for the splendid manner in which it ran of the bouts.

BELVIDERE A. C. WINS REGULAR WORK MAY DEVELOP CASTOFF

Defeat O. M. I. Cadets Before 3000 Spectators at Spalding Park

Uncovering a dazzling forward passing attack in the third and fourth rounds of yesterday's football match at Spalding park the Belvidere A.C. defeated the O.M.I. Cadets by a score of 12-0 before 3000 spectators. Owing chiefly to their advantage in the department of aviators, the Belvideres completely outclassed the Cadets in the closing stages of the game and while the latter's fighting spirit was always in evidence, the odds were too great and the Cadets could not save off defense in the first half of the game, however, the O.M.I.'s surprised the fans by keeping the ball in enemy territory. In fact, during the better of the afternoon up to the intermission between halves.

An added attraction at the park yesterday was the presence of two society candidates, Deborah J. O'Sullivan, who presented the Belvideres with a complete set of sweat shirts, and Hon. Perry D. Thompson and son, who met in the center of the field just prior to the start of the game, shook hands and walked side by side to the stands where they enjoyed the afternoon's football.

As England, Scotland and Wales form a comparatively small country in area, these great final matches always draw people from all over the United Kingdom, all the railways running excursions.

The game opened with Dan O'Connor kicking off for Coughlin and Bel. Trouville recovering for the Cadets on his own 40-yard line. Tough nailed Donstar at his own left end and the Cadets lost the ball on downs. For the Belvideres, Headlock attempted an end run but was stopped by Donstar. Linebacker Coughlin, who had recovered the ball and reversed back to the Cadets, who punted. The remainder of the first period was nothing more than an exchange of punts. The second period was a repetition of the first, punting being the outstanding feature. In the third period, the Belvideres scored. Holt ran back for a touchdown and Coughlin, who had recovered the ball and reversed back to the Cadets, who punted. The remainder of the first period was nothing more than an exchange of punts. Radiographs

Voice Gives Least, and Brass

Instruments Most Trouble in Radio

THE VOICE OF ALL SOUNDS, IS MOST FAITHFULLY REPRODUCED BY RADIO, SAY BROADCASTERS. THE VIOLIN IS NEXT, AND AMONG THE WORST ARE THE SAXOPHONE (RIGHT) AND THE BASSOON (LEFT)

What sounds are broadcast best by radio? The human voice, say managers of radio broadcasting stations. And of that, the soprano is most faithfully reproduced by the transmitting microphone and the receiving instruments. The most difficult sound to broadcast is that of the cornet, or any other of the brass instruments. And what makes the saxophone and bassoon so troublesome is the clicking of the stops. They aren't heard over the footlights when an artist plays directly before an audience. But the delicate microphone catches the sounds of these clicks and not only records them, but exaggerates them in transmission.

Only recently have broadcast managers succeeded in sending instrumental music through the air with any degree of accuracy. The piano gave considerable trouble. The bass notes caused what is termed "bassing" in the microphone. This was heard as harsh crackling at the receiving end. The high notes would not lend themselves to transmission, while those that did come over as tinny sounds. Experimentation with all sorts of microphones finally solved this trouble. Now the piano can be reproduced with quite a degree of fidelity. The stringed instruments, especially the violin, have given no trouble from the beginning. They can be reproduced most faithfully. Instruments of percussion, such as the bells and xylophone, and wood-wind instruments like the clarinet and flute, are also easily reproduced by radio. But when it comes to brass instruments there is worry for the manager. Those that have many mechanical stops must not come near the microphone, or the clicks would be heard through all the music. Those with heavy, blunt sounds must be muffled or the microphone—highly developed as it is today—would crack under the strain. For this reason, it is quite an art for a broadcast manager to place the pieces of an orchestra so that the best will be obtained from each instrument and the whole concert be reproduced without a flaw.

BAZAAR IN TALBOT MEMORIAL HALL

The annual bazaar of the North Hill Baptist church was held Saturday afternoon and evening in the Talbot Memorial hall and was largely attended. The fair opened in the afternoon and those in charge of the ten tables, which were heavily laden with good things to eat and fancy articles, reported a thriving business during the afternoon and evening. At 5:30 o'clock a beautiful supper was served and later in the evening the guests were entertained with a radio concert under the personal direction of John Hogan of this city.

BODY OF BOY FOUND IN CANAL

The body of four-year-old James Abraham of Suffolk street was taken from the Dutton street canal yesterday morning. Shortly after noon on Monday the boy's mother called to him but received no response. A general search was made and as the day went by the conviction grew that he had been drowned by falling into the canal. The canal was searched Saturday afternoon, but as the water was not all drawn off it was impossible to make a thorough investigation. The body was found yesterday morning and was viewed by Medical Examiner Thomas B. Smith.

EIGHT NEW PLAYS OPEN

Eight Open Within Week,

But Only Three Impress

Reviewer

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Eight plays opened on Broadway this week. Three of them made more than a passing impression on the overworked reviewer. That might afford some basis for saying that they are the most significant of the eight.

Significant—that's the kind of movie game. He is persuaded to that end by the Montague girl who lured the unsophisticated youth into the comic book.

This play hands a broad, resonant slap to the movies. Its comic effect is swift and certain because the public is not aware of the immense gain made by the films in the past few years. To a seasoned observer of films and studios, the story is several years behind the times. The slap is heaped punishment.

Glenn Hunter's characterization of Merton gives the play more substance than the author wrote into it. His conception of the psychological changes in the screen-struck youth is deeper than the author's. Florence Stocker, the Montague girl, measures up to the star in the pathetic climax of the last act. That act makes the play something more than mere farce.

In "The Romantic Age" A. A. Milne builds up a situation of sheer fantasy, a thing of conceits and wit. He writes a girl who looks and thinks as her game sounds. He meets the Prince of Her Dreams in a sylvan dell. Then Milne punctures the bubble with the platitudes of everyday life, the platitudes that are the lot of matrimony.

The poets will think this play fine romance; the hardheads will deem it excellent farce. In either attitude Margalo Gillmore and Leslie Howard are very impressive players.

After seeing Elizabeth Hines in "Nellie Kelly" this reviewer is not disposed to recant from his statement, made a year ago when she was in "The Offspring Girl" that she is the most graceful waltz dancer on the stage.

Little Nellie Kelly is a snappy, peppy, useful musical comedy, with the chorus working hard and changing costumes often, according to the Cuban tradition.

Another reason for calling these three plays the significant ones of the week is that they will still be running if you come to New York three months hence.

Mary Haynes, a girl who knows how to sing and who has just scored a pronounced hit at the Boston Keith theatre, will be the feature headliner at the local Keith theatre during the present week. Miss Haynes is to the song what a great actress is to a drama. She puts into it all of her dramatic fire and excellent taste, and, being shown at the Strand, is unquestionably one of the best comedienne creations of the year. You all remember Moore's "Reported Missing," which was shown at the Strand screen. It was thought at the time that it recited the funniest thing in humor-ized set produced in the way of a comedy, but "Love is an Awful Thing" is even more humorous. Don't miss it. Then there is Herbert Rawlinson in "Confidence," a vigorous, gripping

Two INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

As a result of an automobile turning turtle on Mammoth road near the end of the car line early yesterday morning, Laurence Contois of 71 Staples street and Laurence G. Gault of 19 Hanover street, are both confined to the Lowell Corporation hospital suffering from painful injuries. The automobile, which is owned by Contois, was being operated by Joseph A. Gauthier, and it is said the accident occurred when the driver applied the brakes to avoid a collision with a pole. Gauthier was also slightly injured, but he was treated at his home. It was stated at the hospital that the injuries of Contois and Gault were not serious.

Two INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

As a result of an automobile turning turtle on Mammoth road near the end of the car line early yesterday morning, Laurence Contois of 71 Staples street and Laurence G. Gault of 19 Hanover street, are both confined to the Lowell Corporation hospital suffering from painful injuries. The automobile, which is owned by Contois, was being operated by Joseph A. Gauthier, and it is said the accident occurred when the driver applied the brakes to avoid a collision with a pole. Gauthier was also slightly injured, but he was treated at his home. It was stated at the hospital that the injuries of Contois and Gault were not serious.

THE STRAND
Owen Moore's big laugh picture, "Love is an Awful Thing," which is being shown at the Strand, is unquestionably one of the best comedienne creations of the year. You all remember Moore's "Reported Missing," which was shown at the Strand screen. It was thought at the time that it recited the funniest thing in humor-ized set produced in the way of a comedy, but "Love is an Awful Thing" is even more humorous. Don't miss it. Then there is Herbert Rawlinson in "Confidence," a vigorous, gripping

The poets will think this play fine romance; the hardheads will deem it excellent farce. In either attitude Margalo Gillmore and Leslie Howard are very impressive players.

After seeing Elizabeth Hines in "Nellie Kelly" this reviewer is not disposed to recant from his statement, made a year ago when she was in "The Offspring Girl" that she is the most graceful waltz dancer on the stage.

Little Nellie Kelly is a snappy, peppy, useful musical comedy, with the chorus working hard and changing costumes often, according to the Cuban tradition.

Another reason for calling these three plays the significant ones of the week is that they will still be running if you come to New York three months hence.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Mary Haynes, a girl who knows how to sing and who has just scored a pronounced hit at the Boston Keith theatre, will be the feature headliner at the local Keith theatre during the present week. Miss Haynes is to the song what a great actress is to a drama. She puts into it all of her dramatic fire and excellent taste, and, being shown at the Strand, is unquestionably one of the best comedienne creations of the year. You all remember Moore's "Reported Missing," which was shown at the Strand screen. Jack Daw at Sea! Chapter 14

Shortly Jack heard a fluttering of wings and a flock of ducks whirled over his head and finally landed by his side. They were carrying a big basket that would hold Jack and Flip. "Take your dog and climb in," said the fat man. "You will have the ride of your life."

No sooner had Jack and Flip settled in the basket than the ducks took to wing and rose in the air. Never had Jack traveled so fast. The ducks quacked and Flip barked. It was a thrilling ride. In a few moments the earth seemed to come closer. The ducks were settling down to the shore.

A perfect landing was made and as Jack and Flip leaped out of the duckplane, a great splash came from the nearby water. The group of mermaids were diving in as fast as they could. Jack was the first little boy they had ever seen and he frightened them. (Continued.)
